

Model Parliament Features Bill to Nationalize McGill

Liberals Providing Opposition

"What's the matter with Old McGill?" might well describe the forthcoming debate on Tuesday night in the McGill Union Ballroom. At this fourth session of the Model Parliament the Labor Progressives will present a bill favoring the immediate nationalization of McGill University. Liberals will lead the opposition in a discussion that will probably see all the faults of the present system exposed and a completely new line of attack on educational problems presented by the Labor Progressives.

The L.P.P. assert that most students can attend university only if the government provides the necessary funds and therefore the government should control the whole university.

The session which starts at eight o'clock will see the C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative parties occupying the opposition benches. The Progressive Conservatives have submitted an amendment which, while endorsing state-controlled education and seeking equal educational opportunities for Canadian youth and permitting the continuance of McGill as a private institution, declares their "lack of confidence in the L.P.P. Government to carry out state controlled education in a truly democratic manner."

A Liberal amendment is also expected, and they are meeting today at one o'clock to prepare the final draft. They charge that the bill does not consider the vital factors underlying higher educational policy such as minority rights, geographical grouping and differing cultural heritage.

While no official statement of policy on the Bill for Nationalization.

COUNCILLOR MICHAEL BUHAY

Dawson To Hear Buhay Tues. Night

Councillor Michael Buhay will be the guest speaker at the first official meeting of the Dawson Labor Progressive Club to be held Tuesday, February 11, at 7 p.m. in Room 25 of Dawson Hall. The subject of his address will be "The Labor Progressive Party of Canada."

A leading L.P.P. figure in Montreal and an elected city councillor, Mr. Buhay is known to McGill students through his address last year on Housing. Mr. Buhay has a distinguished record in the trade union movement dating back to his youth when he took an active part in British Labor organizations. Coming to Canada 34 years ago, he has been instrumental in building a number of trade unions here, especially in the garment trade. He was elected to the Montreal city council in 1942, and in 1944 he was reelected with double his previous votes.

An L.P.P. spokesman stated that after the events of last week's Student's Society meeting, they expected a large number of Dawsonites would be interested in learning more about the Labor Progressive Party.

P.C.'s Issue Amendment

An amendment to the government bill being presented at Tuesday's Model Parliament has been made by the Progressive Conservative Party Club.

The amendment reads in full: Resolved that all the words after "House" be deleted and the bill should read as follows: Resolved that this house declare itself in favor of state-controlled education, which shall be extended to give Canadian youth equal opportunity to equip themselves for life and they should not be handicapped by geographical or economic circumstances, and further that private institutions such as McGill University will be permitted to continue and further that we declare our lack of confidence in the present (L.P.P.) government to carry out state-controlled education in a truly democratic manner.

To Observe Founder's Day At Macdonald

Today, February 10, is Founder's Day at Macdonald College, and staff and students alike will gather to pay tribute to the memory of Sir William Macdonald—the man who endowed the college which bears his name. Sir William was one of McGill's greatest benefactors, for in addition to founding Macdonald College, he gave McGill $13,000,000, endowed the Chemistry and Physics Building, and donated the money for the McGill Union. Ten scholarships at McGill also bear witness to his generosity, while two chairs in the Departments of Chemistry and Physics perpetuate his name.

Representing McGill at the Founder's Day celebrations will be the Hon. Cyrus MacMillan, Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science. Dean MacMillan is going in place of Principal James, who was to have represented the University, but was called to New York in connection with the visit of the Governor-General to the United States.

Maurice Samuel, noted author and lecturer will address an open meeting in the Union Ballroom tomorrow afternoon at 5 p.m. under the auspices of the Hillel Foundation at McGill University. His topic is "A Jewish State"—a discussion of the Zionist program in the light of today's realities.

City Police Injure U.N.B. Student; Council Protests

Canadian University Press

Frederickton, Feb. 9.—An aroused and indignant Students Representative Council, meeting Wednesday, discussed at length the recent Frederick City Police treatment of one of the University of New Brunswick student body. The victim was Andy Fleming, Sophomore Class President.

Fleming, a veteran of five years' service in the Canadian Infantry was returning from the Veterans' Formal at approximately 2:30 Saturday morning and was standing behind his own car when three members of the city police approached him and placed him under arrest. Fleming stated his desire to return his escort to her

McKenna to Speak At Commerce Dinner

Monday at 7:15 Col. J. E. McKenna, Assistant General Manager of the Stock Exchange is speaking to a Commerce Dinner in the McGill Union. Col. McKenna will address the dinner on the history of stock markets and their place in our present economic system.

Col. McKenna, between his services in two world wars, has been a broker and President of the Stock Exchange and the Curb Market. On retiring from the Army he became an executive officer of the Montreal Stock Exchange.

The members of the Commerce Undergraduate Society are to be reminded that the tickets are limited and should be had from the Tuck Shop or the Undergrad offices.

Papineau Cup Contest Set For Tomorrow

The Papineau Cup, symbolic of the highest achievements in debating, will be contested for tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Union Ballroom, it was announced last night by the executive of the McGill Debating Union.

Reputed as being keenly contested for prior to the war, the Papineau Cup will be presented to the speaker considered the best by a board of three judges.

The Cup is given in memory of Talbot Mercier Papineau, graduate in arts and law, who went to Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar. He was killed in action in the battle of Paschendaele in 1917. The Cup was presented in 1935 and was contested for annually until 1939.

The rules of the competition state that the topic to be discussed will be withheld until the morning of the contest, when it will be published in the McGill Daily. Speakers will have five minutes to deliver their points and may uphold either side of the resolution in French or English.

The judges will award points on the contestants' language, delivery, material and ability to convince, it was also revealed.

Film on TVA To Be Shown

"Tennessee Valley Authority" and "Tjurunga" will be featured at tomorrow's 5 p.m. meeting of the Film Society.

In 1933 the United States Congress passed the Tennessee Valley Authority Act, providing for the reclamation and development of a great territory that had become a virtual waste land as a result of floods and erosion. The "T.V.A." film depicts the work and accomplishments of this organization after more than seven years of progress towards the unified development of the Tennessee Valley. It shows the multi-purpose dams operating to help control floods, to aid navigation and to produce power.

"Tjurunga," a technicolor film, was made by an Australian anthropologist in central Australia, not as in the popular belief, dead desert country, but rather a land of color and rugged beauty rivaling that of the Colorado canyon. It shows the lives led by the most primitive tribes of the most primitive race on earth, the Australian aborigines.

This program of films will be shown, in Room 250 of the Biology Building at 5 p.m. on Tuesday afternoon.

Censors' Ban of French Film Creates Diplomatic Situation

Canadian University Press

Montreal's two universities are having their film troubles. Hard on the heels of the theft of the cancer film at McGill comes news of the censoring of a film at the University of Montreal with possible diplomatic repercussions.

The incident occurred last Friday night at the University of Montreal during the "gala" celebrations. Part of the program, which included a banquet and a ball, was the showing of a prize winning French film, "Les Enfants du Paradis," lent by the government of France and flown over specially for the occasion. On Friday, the Quebec Censorship Bureau demanded to see the film although it was to have a non-commercial showing. It was submitted and the Censorship Board refused to allow it to be shown. The objection to the film seems to be that one of the characters who commits a crime is not punished for his sin.

At the "Gala" on Friday night, the president of the Student's Executive Council, Bernard Laramée, announced that the film had been censored and that in its place another film "Le Soritille" would be shown.

Mr. René de Messiere, the Cultural Counsellor of France, was present at the affair and after the announcement was made, he left and refused to attend the showing of the substitute film. He later explained to the rector of the university that his protest was not directed against the university but solely against the Provincial Government and its functionaries. He considered the incident a direct slight against his country.

All Services OK Uniforms For ACS Ball

Permission has been given by the Navy and Air Force authorities allowing veterans to wear uniforms to the ACS Ball, which is taking place next Thursday in the Currie Gymnasium.

It was announced last week that the Army had also granted permission for the wearing of uniforms to the dance.

Table reservations can be made through Beryl Reid at DE 9251, and all reservations must be made before Wednesday noon.

Rae Hunter has organized the catering for the dance, and she reported that an outstanding menu has been prepared.

Stan Patton and his novel orchestra will be on hand to supply the music for the affair. His orchestra is different in that it has no brass section, relying on careful arrangement to obtain the desired effect. With the band will be Betty Morrison and Tommy Gibb, who will handle the vocals, and Rudy Toth, one of Canada's best pianists and arrangers. He also plays the vibes.

The dance will start at 10 o'clock, and will last until 3 o'clock in the morning. Tickets are on sale in the Tuck Shop of the McGill Union, and are priced at $5.00 a couple.

I.V.C.F. BIBLE STUDY

Professor Lennox of the Presbyterian College will continue his series of talks on the Old Testament on Monday, February 10, at 5:00 p.m.

EUGENE JOUSSE, producer of the Red and White Revue, is shown above. His message of thanks to the cast and stage crew of the Revue appears below.

Producer Congratulates Cast, Staff of Red and White Revue

A statement congratulating the cast and staff of the Red and White Revue of 1947, has been issued by Eugene Jousse, producer of the show. It has been generally conceded by those who attended performances of the Revue that it was probably one of the best to date and most enjoyable.

The text of the statement is as follows:

Now that the Red and White Revue of 1947 is over, I would like to express my thanks to the many students concerned with the show, for their excellent work in contributing to its success. A great deal of time and effort was put into the production by people who

McGill Ice Squad Wins Over Queens at Forum; Cagers Lose at Kingston

Gaels Garner Initial Victory Davidon Stars

Basketball prediction by statistics was given a jolt on Saturday eve when a surprising Queens team took advantage of their home crowd, a McGill off-night and fighting spirit, to nose McGill 39-35. The game was played before a packed house of Tricolour supporters numbering close to 1,200 with a 16 piece band. The game was a rough, charging one in keeping with the unpolished style of play for the Kingstonians, but notwithstanding the at least equal fouling on both sides, 19 fouls were called by referees Edwards and Early against McGill, while the home squad offended officially only 9 times. Shooting on both sides was erratic, with Queens off early in the game, and McGill the principal offenders later on.

High scorer of the evening was 6'4" foot Price of the home squad with 17 points, followed by Team-mate MacNiven with 10. Davidson and Duford lead the locals with 8 and 7 respectively, but both missed many more. The game was a contest between a confident, smooth red squad and an underdog, desperate, fighting Queens team. Notable for his defensive play was McGill Captain Ken Hoyle, while

CCF Ousts SC Party at U of Alberta

Edmonton, February 9, 1947 — (CUP)—Voting for the Members of the Model Parliament at the University of Alberta here proved an upset when the Social Credit Party failed to lead the poll. The final party standing (which is calculated on a Proportional Representation Basis) gave the CCF 13 seats, the Social Crediters 10, Liberals 9, Conservatives 8, and L.P.P. 2 seats.

On this basis, the "Governor-General (the Provost of the University) has asked CCF Leader Harold Bronson to form a government at the next Model Parliament. Although the CCF does not command a majority of the House air force veteran Bronson has stated that the CCF will stand or fall by its proposed socialist legislation, and "will not enter into any coalition with the other parties, all of which are diametrically opposed to the C.C.F."

The failure of the Social Credit Party to emerge victorious has caused intense interest among local newspapers. By some it has been interpreted as indicative that the Social Credit Party is losing its control of the Province of Alberta where it has been the government for the last 12 years.

Dr. H.M. Tory McGill Grad, Dies Suddenly

Ottawa, Feb. 9. — (C.U.P.) — Dr. Henry M. Tory, a McGill graduate, founder and President of Carleton College, died at the age of 83 in Ottawa last Thursday. His passing came as a great shock to citizens all over Canada, who had come to know him as Principal of the College which he founded, and as the man who organized the development of the National Research Council in Ottawa.

When Dr. Tory died he left behind him a college worthy of Canada's Capital, and in his educational methods he set an example for others to follow. In the field of Science, Dr. Tory was instrumental in bringing Science out of the laboratory and into the wider sphere of the factory and the field.

Dr. Tory's career in education was distinguished; he graduated from McGill in mathematics and physics as a gold medalist, and later became lecturer and associate professor of physics at the same university. Dr. Tory gained his D.Sc. in 1903 and was granted LL.D.'s by nine Canadian Universities. In 1923 Acadia University conferred on him the degree of D.C.L. in consideration of his innumerable public services.

Among his many other activities, Dr. Tory was President of the University of Alberta from 1908 to 1914.

Vineberg to Speak on Peace Role of Canada

Prof. Philip F. Vineberg will speak on "The role of Canada in the Peace Treaty Negotiations" at 8 p.m. in the Reading Room of the Union this Wednesday, at a meeting sponsored by the McGill Liberal Club study group on Government of Canada.

Prof. Vineberg is a lecturer in economics and political science at McGill, and is well known for his lectures in Government of Canada and Corporation Finance.

An invitation has been extended to all students who are interested to attend the meeting.

McGill Debaters to Face Bishop's on Wednesday

McGill's debating reputation will be at stake when the first round of the Inter-University Debating League is held on Wednesday, February 12. The resolution under consideration will be that the veto power contributes to the successful working of the United Nations.

Conrad Shatner and Len Beaton will uphold the affirmative in the Union Ballroom at 8 p.m. against a team from Bishop's College, while Sherman Raymond and Roland Prairie will travel to Ottawa University to oppose the resolution. At the same time, Ottawa University will travel to Loyola and Loyola will debate at Bishop's.

Three judges will give their decisions at each debate. The University with the highest number of decisions from both its debates will be the Eastern Section winner. On the same evening at Osgoode Hall, St. Patrick's, Queen's and Western will conduct a similar tournament. The Eastern and Western Sections winners will meet on February 27 for the championship.

Len Beaton and Roland Laprairie are both new to I.U.D.L. debates but their selection as McGill representatives out of a field of over 25 candidates in last month's try-outs indicates that they are of no mean ability. Conrad Shatner and Sherman Raymond have debated before in the I.U.D.L. and were also impressive in the tryouts.

A great deal of preparation is required of the debaters, for each speaker must speak for 20 minutes. The leader of the affirmative has in addition a five-minute rebuttal period in which he may refute the arguments of the negative, although he may not introduce new points.

Brough Paces McGill Squad With 3 Tallies

By ALEC MACINTYRE
(Daily Staff Writer)

Jack Gelineau again stole the show at the Forum on Friday night by racking up the first postwar shutout in Intercollegiate hockey while his teammates, led by Millar, Beigler and Brough, humbled the Tricolour from Queen's by a 10-0 score.

Jack Millar, by virtue of three assists and a goal brought his scoring total to within one point of Tommy Hale, league leader. Johnny Brough and Cy Beigler also picked up four points apiece and the line accounted for six of McGill's counters.

ENGLISH MAKES DEBUT

In an attempt to find a suitable replacement for Sinclair Dave Campbell used Keith English on right wing with the Hale brothers. This combination never got started in the scoring parade until the last period because they were used mainly to kill off penalties. Each of the Hales scored once, both goals coming while McGill was short-handed.

In an otherwise drab contest Gelineau had to turn back 22 shots while his rival Dave Wood blocked 19. The first period was the toughest for in that frame the Gaels outshot the locals 11-6 although they trailed 2-0 when the first siren sounded.

SMITH OUT

Play in the second frame was much closer and the Redmen added three goals to bring the score up to 5-0. It was in the third period, after Heron's heavy bodycheck sent Lorne Smith to the dressing room for the night, that the Gaels seemed to fall apart. Although they fought to the bitter end, the absence of Smith and the shortage of replacements showed plainly in the Queensmen's play and the McGill forwards doubled the score.

Doug Heron led the penalty parade with a major and a minor in the third period. Altogether McGill men spent 15 minutes in the cooler, Queen's 8.

For the visitors Wagar, Davidson and Smith turned in outstanding games but the Gaels lacked coordination and finish about the nets.

The most unusual play of the game came on the third goal. Millar swept in from the right wing and let go a shot which caught both goalposts and bounded out in front of goaler Wood where Johnny Brough picked it up and slapped it home.

Public Relations

(This is the third in a series of editorials dealing with the Christmas conference of the National Federation of Canadian University Students. The McGill committee of the Federation is in the process of organizing a public relations directorate on this campus. This editorial is intended to present some point of view on the whole problem of public relations as it affects the NFCUS.)

Delegates to the conference were fully cognizant and appreciative of the necessity for the establishment of some form of broad public relations activity in the future work of the NFCUS. Accordingly, the recommendations which were formulated by the public relations committee received due consideration at the final plenary sitting of the four-day conference.

Among the motions passed by the conference were those providing for the setting up of public relations directorates on each campus. These committees would be assigned the responsibility of seeing that reports of student activity would reach all Canadian campuses as well as the general public, through the available publicity organs — the Canadian University Press, National and regional radio broadcasts, the National Film Board, and the general press.

What principles lie behind the desire for some form of public relations? It might serve well to iterate some factors which, if not already taken into consideration, might well be thought about by the individual NFCUS committee.

Primarily the basic function of public relations is to bring some individual, fact attitude, or organization into the public eye; to make people aware of and to focus their attention upon the existence and the accomplishments of. For an organization is only a living, dynamic some particular organization.

University student population in Canada reaches over the 65,000 mark. This is a sizable portion of the total population of the country. And as such, there should be some total expression of the opinion and the activities of this group of Canadian citizenry.

While NFCUS is recognized as the organization which attempts to integrate the voice and the activities of Canadian students; while it is accorded the position of being the only national organization representative of all university students; there has not been, to date, any live attempt to give voice to the integrated activity of this broad student body. Here is another important aspect of the advantage of the proposed public relations committees.

Last. It must be pointed out that these public relations can only exist if NFCUS prove itself to be the dynamic vital organization which it can be. The Canadian public cannot be interested in generalizations, possibilities, propositions; they do not care to read about what may be, or what may not be. The publicity organs, in catering to their public must deal with facts, figures and accomplishments. News value and interest lies in what is happening, not in what might happen.

It is up to NFCUS, therefore, to take the initiative upon all the problems which concern students — only then will it make what in newspaper parlance is called: "good copy" — A.T.

TIME AND TIDE

On Luring An Audience

The attendance at the concert given by Portia White, Canadian Negro contralto, at His Majesty's on Friday gives one food for reflection upon the importance of advertising and 'name' appeal relative to luring an audience into a concert hall. Everyone is, of course, aware of this, but in addition, I believe that this particular concert may serve as an object lesson to the future impresario on the sparsity in Montreal of English speaking fanatics of vocal music.

The Canadian West Indian Progressive Student Centre, sponsors of the event, are to be highly congratulated upon their hollow and unremunerative attainment of an artistic triumph. In addition, I should like to express the hope that a similar venture in the future will not meet with a similar fate.

It is possible that an excessive 'spoiling' of a singer by his or her public is not conducive to good art. The artist, assured of a large, worshipping, and uncritical audience may tend to relax his standards, expand his personality, and exert himself only when, as, and if the spirit moves him; a quality characteristic, I think, of certain great pianists at present before the American public. However, it does draw heavily upon one's store of compassion to observe an artist at the summit of a long upward journey in her profession, having surmounted racial barriers and poor circumstances, who returns to what is presumably her homeland, and is greeted by a hall less than one quarter full.

If Miss White experienced any disappointment on this occasion, as surely she must have, it was detectable neither in her bearing nor in her performance. She exhibited an energetic, even exuberant personality, dignified manner, and intelligence and sincerity in her approach to the problem of interpretation. The rounds of applause (and everyone there was applauding most enthusiastically) were received with a delight and were rewarded with encores in a manner befitting a much larger audience.

I have no intention of saying that Miss White is a perfect vocal artist. Such a being does not exist. The flaws that I picked out are a minute but irritating tendency to flat when attacking notes in the upper register, and a certain unevenness of line when caught breathless at the end of a long phrase. These faults are insignificant, however, when compared with the magnificent quality of her voice, its power and range, together with her amazing versatility.

The concert opened in a classical vein with songs by Beethoven, Handel, and Mozart. Si Trai Cappi, translated Yea, Mid Chans, showed lack of familiarity with Handelian phrasing, but in the seldom heard aria Non Più di Fiori, from Mozart's Clemenza di Tito, Miss White was astonishing in her fulfillment of the demands made for power, lyrical quality and range.

A group of Schubert lieder was done with taste and restraint, followed by more exhibitions of virtuosity in the arias Pleurez, Mes Yeux, from LeCid, and O Don Fatale, from Don Carlos.

The vocal fireworks being concluded, Miss White got down to the business of exhibiting her accomplishments in one of the criteria of vocal artistry; the interpretation of simple art songs and folk melodies. This she did in a group of French songs, in which she seemed very much at home, and some negro spirituals, and French Canadian folk melodies. These two latter formed the most successful part of her program. There was the familiar A la Claire Fontaine, and a very amusing little ditty called Le Coucou, both very well interpreted. Among the spirituals were Deep River, Swing Low, Sweet Chariot, Oh, Mary, and I Know de Lord.

A Court Gentleman Salutes Pierrette

Mardi Gras

Mardi Gras — Carnival — a few days of hectic merry-making and freedom, one final snatch at pleasure and gaiety in preparation for the forty days of penance, prayer and fasting of Lent. From the Latin "carnis vale" — farewell to the flesh — comes the word carnival and from the pagan festivals of the Roman Empire, come the celebrations characteristic of Carnival.

The Roman Saturnalia fell in December. The month was given over to one long orgy of drunken revelry and mirth in honor of Saturn and the Golden Age when he ruled the world. In Rome, the Carnival carried on the old Saturnalia and formerly lasted from the 6th of January until midnight preceding Ash Wednesday. Mummers, plays, tricks, pageants, processions, and every kind of freedom were authorized in the days before the fast, and the whole city was plunged into such wild and riotous festivity that even life and property were not safe from the excesses of the frenzied madness which took possession of the people.

The Carnival passed to other Christian countries and has come down to us considerably modified throughout the centuries but unchanged in its basic purpose — Carnival throughout the world is a period of almost unlicensed freedom and merry-making, one last fling at pleasure before the 40 days of Lent.

In Italy, Carnival takes place on the ten days before Ash Wednesday. Certain days are characterized by certain observances — during the first five or six days people go about the city in costume — there is dancing in all the public squares at night — the identity of everyone is hidden behind a mask and all barriers of class and wealth are forgotten. People in costume ride about the city in open cars throwing confetti and candy and small toys into the crowds. All the shops are closed — no one works — there is no thought for anything but celebration.

From France comes the custom of having great street pageants and processions — historic, poetic, and other scenes are artistically portrayed on magnificent floats. Beautiful women are chosen to ride in the processions. Every small town and village selects its own Queen of Mardi Gras and during the three or four days of celebration her rule is absolute and she is showered with admiration and homage and gifts of every kind.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS CHAMPIONS CROWNED

Sampson College Win Against Red Mermen

The McGill mermen suffered their second defeat in as many weeks Saturday when they were trounced by a powerful Sampson team 45-25 exactly two hours after reaching Rochester.

Slated to arrive at Sampson in the morning, the Redmen were delayed by heavy snowstorms, and got in as a result with barely enough time to don their swim trunks—a very tired team.

It seems that the heavy snow storms so prevalent around Montreal have spread, and the sailors are snowbound in a quaint little town called Pula-ski. (Wonder how they're going to keep warm.)

It is due to the delay of all transportation facilities that the Daily has been unable to get more detailed information as to actual participation, and individual placing.

Championships the above phrase was used.

During the thrill-packed evening champs were crowned in the field of Boxing, Wrestling, Judo, Weightlifting and Gymnastics. The evening saw some wonderful boxing bouts and Coach Irving Phillips has a big problem on his hands when it comes to choosing an intercollegiate squad.

BIG UPSET

The big upset of the evening was in the 140-pound class when John Rogers punched out a clever decision over Johnny Heney. The other winner in this weight bracket, Cahill, rose off the canvas in the first of his bout with Forgues to administer the sleeping powder to his rival in the same canio. In the final, Rogers was winner by a T.K.O. in the second round. In the 125-pound class Doug Lee and Saul Greenfield pounded out decisions over Harold Shisgal and Bud March respectively, but Lee was declared champ when Greenfield was too tired to enter the final.

Only three official wrestling matches were held, the rest of the program being filled by eight hard-fought exhibitions. In the 175-pound class Avison downed Elkin in two straight falls. Dawson won over Hudson by a fall in the 155-pound class while Joe Ouellette eked out a decision over McPherson in the heavyweight class.

The judoists went through their intricate routines holding four official and three exhibition tilts. Veteran George Schneider downed Gatcliffe 6-4 in the opener while Huestis and Cluxton were the other victors.

WICKSTEED MEET

The Gymnastics event was held under the name of the Wicksteed Meet and included competition on the High Bar, Parallel Bars, Side Horse, Rings, and Mats. Don Cochran won first place on the High Bars with 220 points—35 more than his nearest rival, Art Henderson. However, Henderson came back to edge out Cochran: 198 to 191 with King finishing second with 193 in the Parallel Bars. Henderson won the Side Horse event while King took the nod on the Rings. Wood nosed out Cochran by four points to end the meet.

EN TOUTE

In the final recapitulation of points Cochran emerged winner with 796 points and will receive the Dr. F. W. Harvey Cup while Henderson in second place with 735 points receives the Wicksteed Trophy.

The Weightlifting competition was marked by new total and individual poundage records. In the lightweight class Martin Franklin, sole competitor lifted a total of 495 lbs. for a new record. The middle weight crown went to dark horse Turner Brainard, who hoisted 580 lbs. for another new record. In the lightweight class Allan Palvio won handily.

REFEREE RUMPUSS

The Intercollegiate Union seems to be having a little trouble with referees lately. . . . From Toronto comes word that Alcide Hebert's U. of M. puck squad has officially entered a protest against the officiating there Friday eve when the local Blues downed the Carabins 5-1. . . . Meantime the Red and White cage crew returned from Kingston with a 39-35 loss tacked on to their record, and a violent anti-referee complex. . . . It seems that one of the "men in white" at Queen's was a brother to the Tricolor coach. . . . Which is stretching things a little too far. . . . We know that the Gaels have been trying awfully hard to win a game for quite a while now, but bro-ther!

That was quite a puck game at the Forum the other night. . . . The 10-0 shellacking administered to the lowly Tricolor by Dave Campbell's rampaging Redmen threw the limelight on a high-scoring combo in the persons of Jack "Pop" Millar, Johnny Brough, and Cy Beigler. . . . We think that Goalie Dave Woods of the Gaels ought to get a couple of assists on Redbird goals as he passed the puck out perfectly to waiting Red marksmen. . . . As the luckless Queen's goalie kept fanning on long shots some wise-acre remarked that he "couldn't see Woods for the breeze". . . .

SWING TO THE RIGHT

Rumors that McGill students constitute a left-wing element in Canada were effectively dispersed in this same ice tilt as Coach Campbell had all three of his right-wingers on the freeze at the same time at one point in the proceedings. . . . This was immediately after Doug Heron's major penalty had expired, and the Red and White mentor had so juggled his forwards during the five minutes that Keith English, Cy Beigler, and Ward Pitfield were the only rested attackers he had. . . . To top it off, both defencemen then on the ice were right-hand shots. . . .

Western Beats Varsity 59-52 In Cage Tilt

Johnny Melras' Championship Purple and White Hoop steamroller start its 1947 roll Saturday night in Toronto as the Western Hordes flattened the Varsity Blues, 59-52, (the steamroller that is).

The game was closely contested throughout with Western overcoming an early Varsity lead to go ahead, 25-24, at half time. With ten minutes to go, the score stood 39 all but Western took a commanding lead from then on, and its late Varsity spurt fell short of its mark.

PHIBBS STARS

Deadeye Bob Phibbs was the big gun for the Mustangs hitting the twine for eighteen points. Phibbs scintillated around the basket and swished the cordage from all angles. Lowes was top man for the Blues netting fourteen counters. This was the third contest for Varsity and their second loss. They downed Queen's in the opener, but have lost their last two outings to McGill and on Saturday to Western.

Floor Hockey Tryout Takes Place Tonight

Tonight at 7.15, there will be a practice at the gym for the bash and smash enthusiasts (Floor-hockeyists as the illustrious Shakespeare would have put it). The turnout will be divided into two teams, and twelve men will be chosen to represent McGill in coming matches. On Monday the 17th, McGill will play Lou Davies Westmount High Champs. The following are requested to turn out this evening:

Team 1—Lipshitz, McVittie, Westbrook, Goddard, Wilson, Boubrounais, McDonald, Pragnall, Pescoco, Raza, St. Jacques.

been credited with the second goal, with an assist to Ernie Spiller. . . . As we remembered it, it had been Spiller who had actually fired the gutta percha past Woods. . . . We pointed this out to Gosselin, and "Goose" agreed that it had been Spiller who had scored on his pass. . . . "So what" said the scorer, "you each get a point anyhow". . . . "I know" a sarcasm tinged voice from the rear of the room called, "but it might effect Ernie's contract for next year". . . .

LAUGH OF THE NIGHT

Students in the north end of the stands at the Forum were roaring with laughter at the antics of an unidentified character wandering around the Forum on Friday night. . . . It seems that this lad had a stooge accompanying him, and the stooge had an unlit cigarette draped out of one corner of his mouth. . . . The character walks up to the stooge and asks him if he wants a light. . . . "Please" says the stooge. . . . At which point the character hauls a 100 wat Mazda out of his pocket and says "Here you are". . . . (Note. . . . We hear from a very reliable source of information that the above-mentioned character was "Norm" of the notorious Norm 'n' Jack who write The CORN-er. . . . At this point we wish to publicly announce that the above Norm and the writer of this column are in no way connected, any similarity being due merely to the whims of our respective parents. . . .)

Did you know that the sweater worn by the Western football player in the swell Red and White Revue was the same sweater as that worn by McGill's nemesis—Herb Ballantyne—this past season? . . . What lengths those Mustangs will go to in order to pull the wool over our eyes. . . . A notice handed in to the Daily reads as follows. . . .

"FOR SALE . . . one pair of jumping skis . . . Cheap . . . Actually not worth a damn . . . can prove it. . . . Phone Bob Tilden, DE. 4343." . . . Tilden, a member of the Red ski team, sounds exasperated. . . . Note to Harvard. . . . ARE you happy now, Dave?" . . .

McGill Skiers Place Many In Zone Meet

Running in near perfect snow conditions some 60 of the top seeded skiers in Eastern Canada bashed down bad Baldy in the Laurentian Zone downhill championships held at St. Marguerites yesterday.

Top honours in the race went to Skigull Hec Sutherland who flashed down the course to set a new record time of 87.2 secs. Two out of towners, Harvey Clifford and Pierre Jalbert of Ottawa and Quebec respectively took the next two places in the men's class A, while McGill's Bruce Fleming, nattily attired in a red crash helmet was in the fourth spot with a time of 90.3 secs. Don Stanforth and Art Bruneau placed eighth and tenth respectively.

In class "B" John Turner Bone, racing under MOC colors, placed third while in the ladies' division D. Burden, captain of the McGill girls' team, arrived in fourth place in 68.3 seconds.

SLALOM

In the slalom held in the afternoon to enable the visitors from Quebec and Ottawa to test their skill against the best local talent, Harvey Clifford led a starry field as he negotiated the tricky course in 40 seconds flat. Fleming again led the Redmen as he took the eighth spot with 42.4 seconds while dependable Art Bruneau was 14th with a time of 49 seconds.

Robinson, Gillespie, Pennefather, Fenton Shine As McGill Relay Squad Finishes Ninth at Boston

GO—AL GETTERS

JOHNNY BROUGH, left, and JACK MILLAR, right, who teamed up with new linemate Cy Beigler to account for six of the Rampaging Redmen's goals in the victory over Queen's. Millar took over second spot in the scoring race and leads the league in assists with six. Brough racked up three goals and an assist.

Representatives of the McGill track squad returned last night from Saturday night's Boston A.A.U. meet and although they didn't bring back any "little man" as they did when they returned from Toronto, they did return with a gold medal each for their efforts in the relay race.

No, the Redmen didn't win. They finished ninth in a relay with 32 starters, but they did win their section of the race by downing Amherst, Worcester, and Bowdoin. However, eight other colleges in other sections of the race posted better times and thus were placed higher in the final reckoning.

The showing by the Redmen is commendable in that they were entered in one of the largest indoor meets in the U.S.A. and were therefore up against top notch competition. Winners of the relay were Seaton Hall, clocked in at 3:23.8 for the four-man mile, one-tenth of a second faster than Manhattan College; McGill was clocked in at 3:34.8.

The four-man team representing McGill consisted of Pete Robinson as starter, Andy Gillespie in the second slot, Dick Pennefather as third man, while Paul Fenton ran the anchor. Pete, a newcomer to McGill track circles and present holder of the Canadian Intercollegiate 100-yard title, toured his quarter mile in the fastest time for the team as he passed the baton to Andy Gillespie after a mere 53.2 seconds had elapsed. Andy was clocked at 54 flat while Pennefather romped home in 53.3. Fenton had a breeze over the field by the time half his lap was over and he hit the tape in 54.3.

COED HOCKEY

Much to the displeasure of both the McGill and Queen's Coed hockey teams, the game slated to take place on Saturday was cancelled owing to inclement weather. Unfortunately the Tricolor made the trip in vain.

Arts Victorious In Intramural Puck Contest

It was a case of Artsmen over Sciencemen again last Friday when the Classicists trounced their faculty brethren the so called men of Science in a one way intramural hockey game to the strains of a 5-2 symphony.

Big boy of the Artsmen was Hank Kloster with two tallies. Good for one piece were Gay Goodal, Jack Woods and Dick Wilson.

High and only scorer of the Sciencemen was Don Stacey. Di-moulin, Cummings and Westbrook played stellar games throughout.

NO SUBS

The Sciencemen were at a very great advantage, as only six men turned out, and towards the middle the strain began to tell. It was thanks to the Science goalie that the Artsmen did not rack up a higher score.

The Daily Meets
C. H. Millard
by Jean H. Pouliot

Up to now, we have always pictured a strike leader kneeling behind his long black beard, in rapt contemplation before a statue of saint Joe. We were quite disappointed when we found no uranium upon conscientiously frisking Mr. Millard, when we met him recently.

Instead of finding anti-what-have-you literature on his person, we found him quite eager to talk about university students. A good number of them will eventually find themselves in management positions, admits Mr. Millard, and the leader of last summer's 100-day national steel strike argues that a working knowledge of the labor movement and of its real aims is essential to these students. Asked if he would advocate a specific university course in familiarization with trade unions, the former Ontario M.P. replied: "I don't know how anyone could graduate in political economy without it." At this point, the national director of the Steelworkers' Union praised Leland Stowe's "While Time Remains", a book which he himself found very illuminating, and which he feels would be of particular interest to students.

Students interested in labor history will remember the 1945 World Trade Union Conference held in London. Labor leader Millard, a CCFer since 1933, was a delegate there, and pointed out to us that the conference was "connected with the position of labor as such on the international plane". The purpose of the meeting was an attempt at preventing the exploitation of one group of workers by another in a different country. Using as an illustration the distressingly low wages earned by Chinese workers, the CCL member explained that he only solution to the problem is in the setting-up of Imports and Exports Boards for international exchanges of surpluses. The inevitable consequence of such an initiative would be a world-wide improvement of working-class standards of living, Mr. Millard said.

Switching from international labor to labor in Britain, Mr. Millard jumped to the defence of the British Labor Government, pointing out that from the previous government, the present administration has inherited post-war problems which compare favorably in size with those met with in any other country. The British socialist government has performed, according to Mr. Millard, amazing feats, and "deserves the greatest credit for its determination to give India its freedom."

While we are apt to copy the British political system in Canada, Mr. Millard added, industrially we have developed along American lines. Here across the border, the former C.C.F. M.P. feels that "the amount of publicity given the Communists' partaking in strikes completely outweighs their numerical importance." The strike leader conceded that in this respect, the C.C.F. party has not done all it should have, but in his eyes the difference lies in the fact that "the C.C.F. is emphatically against muscling into unions, and seeking control of the majority through a small well-organized minority. Personally," contended Mr. Millard, "I wouldn't stand for any C.C.F. interference in union affairs."

Mr. Millard ended by stating that he sees a good sign in the increasing editorial space devoted by Ontario newspapers to criticism of himself and Mr. Coldwell, whenever labor problems make the headlines.

madness of Carnival increases until it culminates in a peak of hysteria on the final day before Lent and people go about the cities dousing each other with cold water and playing all sorts of tricks and pranks on one another. At night huge bonfires flame up and native orchestras go about the streets, their frenzied rhythms resounding from all sides. The main Plaza is the scene of a mob almost frightening in its aspect—but at the twelfth hour Carnival is suddenly over—the people go quietly home and wait behind closed doors and shutters for the morning and the beginning of Lent.

In a city so prevalently French as Montreal, it is surprising that the custom of Mardi Gras has never been observed. This year the Societe Francaise has decided to have a Mardi Gras Ball—The Ball will be in costume in an attempt to capture some of the spirit and gaiety of the traditional Carnival and promises to be an interesting deviation from the regular college dances. It is our hope that student response will be satisfactory enough to make Mardi Gras a tradition and that the effort to raise money for the Children's Fund will be successful.

tion of McGill has been issued by the C.C.F. club, a number of private members have stated that they expect to stand in support of the bill when the question is put to the House on Tuesday evening. One member of the C.C.F. has asserted that some of the funds bequeathed to McGill, sums which have run as high as twenty million dollars, had been robbed from the workers.

Foreign affairs topics will probably feature the question period in view of the known differences between the L.P.P. and the other three parties. Their attitude towards Russia, the United Nations and the veto power of the Big Five are certain to produce fireworks in this early part of the session. Government measures will also be introduced at this session and the members will be able to see just what the L.P.P. have in store to benefit the country.

These Model Parliaments, in which all four of the political clubs take part, are run under the guidance of the steering committee, an offshoot of the McGill Debating Society and the sessions are open to every student registered at McGill. They have full privileges of attending, asking questions, speaking to the motion and then taking part in the vote which is held at the end of the evening.

did not appear on the stage at all; some even confining their activities for the year to the Revue and to their studies, and it is largely due to their efforts that the show was a success.

I would also like to add a special word of appreciation for the help received from Mr. and Mrs. William Long of the English Department. They both gave unstintingly of their time and skill, although they need not have concerned themselves with the show at all, if they had so desired. —If I had to choose a part of the show for special mention, I would pick the girls who made up the chorus line. They began rehearsing early in December, and always showed a particular interest in the progress of the show. It has been said that "college spirit" is a quality not to be found on this campus, but these girls certainly disproved that statement.

Once again may I thank all concerned for a good job well done. (Signed) EUGENE JOUSSE, Producer.

Dawson's Taylor was also effective.

Play started off quite spectacularly with McGill utilizing a smooth 3-man attack to run the score to 5-0 in the first 3 minutes. At the 9 minute mark, the score was 9-8 and then Queens took the lead to hold it for the remainder of the evening. Lead by Price MacNiven, and Weir, the yellow-jerseyed crew took advantage of very apparently partial refereeing to lead by 17-14 at half time.

In the second half, the Queens shooting improved tremendously as the McGill zone failed to click, and the home team racked up 5 straight baskets to lead 27-14 after 4 minutes of play. McGill got back into the ball game here, but Queens stayed 11 points ahead throughout. With 5½ minutes left, the boys started to drive and almost caught up. Duford was banished at the 15.40 mark with 5 fouls, and with 30 seconds to play, the score was 37-35; but lady luck refused to ride the McGill ball, as Queens tried to stall. MacNiven of Queens scored in the last second of play to make the final count 39-35.

Sidelights: As goes Davidson, so goes McGill. . . . George missed plenty in this off-night and ended up with a measly 8 points. . . . The McGill man-to-man defence in the last quarter was much more effective than their zone. . . . Sam Roth and Bud Fraser played with sprained ankles. . . . The Queen's gym has a confusing set of out-lines as McGill learned in the first half. . . . Edwards who refereed the game is the brother of the Queen's coach and even the Queen's supporters noticed it. . . . The team was invited to an open house at Grant Hall after the game. . . . It looks like McGill must beat Western twice now.

Education and Sociology Is Topic of Hughes

Professor John Hughes, head of the Education Department, will be the featured speaker at the fourth open lunch-hour meeting of the McGill Sociological Society on Tuesday, Feb. 11, at 1.15 p.m. in Room 74 of the Arts Bldg. Prof. Hughes will treat the topic: "Education and Sociology."

This meeting is consistent with the society's program of examining all the social sciences in relation to sociology.

To date, members have heard Miss Eileen Ross of the McGill Sociology Department; Miss Dorothy King of the Montreal School of Social Work, and many other graduate students.

The series is open to all sociology students, as well as other interested students. Question and discussion period will follow the speaker.

Spys and secret agents have become the most overused of Hollywood's many overused character types; espionage likewise the most hackneyed of plot material. . . . yet both these ingredients are used to reasonably entertaining advantage in "Notorious" now playing its week's run at Loew's. . . . In spite of the highly praised quality of Hitchcock's "suspense" it is not the direction but the acting of Ingrid Bergman which makes the picture entertaining. It at times slow, movie fare. Miss Bergman as always proves that it is not the part that makes an actress but the actress who makes any part good. Showing "one more facet of her versatile ability she plays the part of a 'notorious' adventuress as she portrayed the sweet sister in the Bells of St. Mary. Cary Grant shows his usual brand of smoldering deadpan toughness; Claude Rains is rather wasted in a rather unconvincing part.

In the light of current movie entertainment it is a better than average effort.
